

101 shots was fired. The Emperor next knelt to recite the prayer prescribed for the coronation. The metropolitan and all present knelt also, and in the name of the nation offered prayer to the Almighty. The Metropolitan of St. Petersburg read a short allocution to the Emperor and the choir intoned the Te Deum to the sound of the bells of all the churches of Kremlin. During this ceremony the Czar stood with bared head. The reading of the Holy Gospel followed, and two Archbishops presented the holy book to the Empress, who kissed it.

The officiating clergy having been notified that the holy door was open, two Archbishops, assisted by the archdeacon, advanced from the altar toward his majesty to announce that the holy ceremony of the anointment was to begin. His majesty descended from the throne and proceeded by a sequest globe, and a cross was borne toward the holy door followed by the Empress. The Empress, in her turn, advanced a golden cloth. The Metropolitan of St. Petersburg, bearing the precious amphora, with the holy chrism, dipped it in the golden bowl, and anointed the forehead, eyelids, nostrils, lips, ears, chest and hands of the Emperor pronouncing the words, "Impensis doni Christi sancti."

The ringing of the bells and the salute of 101 guns notified the population of the solemnity of this ceremony. And the Empress, in her turn, knelt on the right, in front of the image of the Saviour, and the Empress approached the holy door, where the Metropolitan of St. Petersburg anointed her on the forehead, pronouncing the ritual.

The Metropolitan of St. Petersburg afterward introduced the Emperor into the sanctuary by the holy door, and the Emperor received holy communion as it is administered to the priests. Leaving the sanctuary his majesty again took up his place before the image of the Saviour, and the Empress received the anointing according to the usual custom. The majesties returned to their thrones, where post-communion ceremonies were performed and at the end of the mass the archdeacon intoned the verse: "Domino, salvi fac impotriorem" and "Domine salvame fac impotriorem" the choir repeating three times "Amen, amen, amen." The clergy presented the cross to their majesties for their kiss. The Emperor replaced the crown on his head, took the sceptre and globe, and the censors, and all those persons present presented felicitations.

Upon the conclusion of the ceremony of coronation and anointment the procession moved back to the palace, preceded by the cortège of the ex-Empress Marie Fedorovna. After leaving the Cathedral of the Assumption the Emperor and Empress returned to the Cathedral of the Ascension, where the Emperor was received by the Bishop of Kostroma who presented them with a cross and holy water and preceded them into the cathedral.

The majesties knelt in prayer before the holy images, recited the Lord's Prayer and the Ave, and the Archbishop read the litany. Thence the Archbishop proceeded in state with the Emperor and Empress, preceded by the Emperor and Empress, to the cathedral of the Ascension, where they were received by the Bishop of Kostroma who presented them with a cross and holy water and preceded them into the cathedral.

At the hour which followed at Grandvial Palace the utmost stink was observed. The Imperial Grand Duchesses and the august persons of the family were in attendance with the Holy Synod, high clergy, and others. Only persons of the highest importance were present at the imperial banquet, the guests being entertained according to their rank.

The diplomatic galaxy was full by 8:55 p.m., and among the throng could be recognized Clinton R. Brevoort, the United States Minister to China, Mr. Brocksidge, the United States was represented by General McCook, Admiral Selfridge, Herbert H. D. Gleeson, Captain Webb, Captains Weddell and Schieren, United States Navy, Lieutenant-Commander R. P. Rodgers, naval attaché of the United States at St. Petersburg; Lieutenant H. T. Allen, military attaché of the United States at St. Petersburg; Lieutenant-Commander Radfield, United States Navy; Mr. and Mrs. Palmer of Chicago, Mr. and Mrs. John A. Logan, Lieutenant Stünker and Bertoldo, United States Navy, and a number of others.

London, 23rd May.

A despatch to the Standard from Moscow says that only twenty-two tickets were issued for press representatives to enter the Cathedral of the Assumption to witness the coronation of the Czar, of which only two were allotted to British and American journals. In the cathedral of St. Isaac, under the Turkish canopy and the Persian Minister having declined to don their headgear, the guests were refused admission in the Cathedral of the Assumption.

IMPERIAL MANIFESTOS.—TAXES REMITTED AND CLERICAL GRANTS—DECORATIONS.

Moscow, 23rd May.

The Czar's manifesto, issued upon the occasion of his coronation, results all arrears of taxation in European Russia and Poland; reduces the land tax by one-half for ten years, and remits or reduces all dues; quashes all guilty convictions involving impositions of fine up to 300 rubles, with the exception of treason, rebellion, sedition, bankruptcy, usury, extortion, fraudulent bankruptcy or offenses against honor.

Further, the manifesto prescribes that all exiles in Siberia, after twelve years' exile in the remote parts, be, after ten years, allowed to choose their place of residence, except in capital cities and governments, but their civil rights will not be restored.

Exile criminals have a third of their sentences remitted, the life sentences are commuted to twenty years, and many other punishments are lightened.

Regarding political prisoners, the Minister of Justice is authorized to grant, according to the nature of the offence, remissions of punishment in addition to those in the general amnesty and advise the Czar to restore civil rights to those who have led blameless lives since they have completed their sentences, except in cases of those punished summarily, who, by their subsequent behaviour, merit indulgence. Political refugees are accorded immunity from prosecution, provided fifteen years have elapsed since their offence.

Further clemency is to be granted as follows: Refugees from Lithuania and Poland, who took part in the Polish rebellion but who were not guilty of major or treasonous offenses, and exiles from Lithuania, who, in the opinion of the government, have shown a desire to be distributed among the provinces of the empire, will be granted full freedom in the choice of a residence, so that they may have the right to move about, to settle, and to be employed in agriculture, handicrafts, or any other occupation.

Later in the day an imperial ukase was issued, announcing many promotions and decorations of Russian diplomatic and establishing, as a special distinction to the clergy, a silver cross to be worn on the breast.

OVER TWO THOUSAND PEOPLE CRUSHED TO DEATH AT MOSKOW DURING THE CZAR'S CORONATION.

Moscow, 23rd May.

A terrible panic, resulting from great excitement in the crowd, caused the trampling to death of many people, including a woman who was delivered of a child during the excitement. In anticipation of the grand holiday and popular banquet on Monday, the 23rd, tens of thousands of people began tramping towards the Petrovsky Palace, in front of which the plain is situated, during the earlier hours of the day. In the open space that the crowds reached the ground, yesterday evening and camped there, or in its immediate vicinity, during the night in order to be certain to obtain a good position to-day. SPECIAL RATES (First class only) granted to Missionaries, members of the Naval, Military, Diplomatic, and Civil Services, but to European Officials in the Service of China and Japan.

CIRCUM-PACIFIC TICKETS Hongkong to Vancouver, Vancouver to Sydney, Australia, and Honolulu, and Sydney to Hongkong via Bosphorus and Torres Straits. Good for 9 months. $100.

The attractive feature of this Company's route embraces its PALATIAL STEAMSHIPS (second to none in the World), the LUXURIA OF ITS TRANS-CONTINENTAL TRAINS (the Company having received the highest award for man at recent Chinese World's Exhibition), and the diversity of MAGNIFICENT MOUNTAIN AND LAKE SCENERY through which the Line passes.

THE DINING-CAFS AND MOUNTAIN HOTELS of the route are owned and operated by the Company, and their appointments and Cuisines are unparalleled.
